Expertise

Montgomery & Andrews' appellate practice group assists clients in resolving appeals in matters that have been with the firm from their inception, as well as those that have been referred to the group at the appellate stage. Our appellate practice group is fully integrated with other firm practice areas such as our litigation practice, ensuring continuity in the representation of our clients. Our appellate attorneys excel at brief writing and oral advocacy skills necessary to meet your goals. Additionally, our appellate attorneys are intimately familiar with the motion practice that frequently intertwines itself with appeals. Montgomery & Andrews' appellate practice covers a broad range of complex legal matters at all levels of the state and federal appellate courts.
